LAMILUX TextureWall wins Pro K Award 2020

Young, creative and functional

A great alternative to conventional rendered façades, the glass-fibre-reinforced plastic LAMILUX TextureWall is revolutionising pre-fabricated module construction and has just received an award as an “exceptional top product” from the Pro-K Awards jury. The competition has honoured young, creative and functional designed plastic products since 1979.

When unable to use rendered façades, architects, planners and developers of mobile homes, container homes, military camps, industrial sheds and prefabricated houses can now make use of a demonstrably exceptional alternative according to the Pro K-Awards jury. The jury presented its award to LAMILUX TextureWall, which is mainly used as a robust face sheet on sandwich panels to clad façades.

This type of design is in line with future trends in pre-fabricated module production and sandwich structures in construction and restoration work. Whereas existing products primarily feature a smooth, clinical-looking surface, LAMILUX TextureWall excels thanks to its attractive, authentic plaster look and consists of a UV- and weatherproof variant for outdoor areas. But it's not only the product's structure which impresses – its mechanical properties do too. LAMILUX TextureWall is manufactured in a continuous GRP roll, ensuring there are no joints which need plastering and allowing construction work to be completed sooner, at less expense and with a visually appealing result.
