LAMILUX Composites recognized as “World Market Leader Future Champion 2026”

LAMILUX Composites has been recognized as a “World Market Leader Future Champion 2026” in the latest ranking published by WirtschaftsWoche in cooperation with the University of St. Gallen. The ranking honors medium-sized companies that are global leaders in their respective market segments or are on the path to becoming one.

The award confirms the strong international market position of LAMILUX Composites as well as the company’s sustainable growth strategy and high level of innovation. The assessment considered criteria such as global market position, share of international sales, presence on multiple continents, and the long-term viability of the business model.

LAMILUX Composites develops and manufactures high-quality fiber-reinforced plastics and is established worldwide as a reliable and high-performance partner for demanding industrial applications. Core markets include the caravan and motorhome industry, the commercial vehicle and transportation sector, as well as other industrial applications where quality, durability, and process reliability are key requirements.

Being included in the ranking underlines the successful international orientation of LAMILUX Composites, even in economically challenging times. At the same time, the award highlights the company as one of the future-oriented drivers of
